Tony Salvatore was one of the most popular and respected members of the Class of 1958 at Pearl River High School. Always smiling and full of laughter, he excelled in athletics, academics (graduating 10th in his class) and music. Friendship and concern for his classmates were among his special qualities. Tony was a loving husband and father a generous friend and a committed family man who met life's challenges head-on with conviction and without ceremony.

Following graduation from Rider College, Tony began his career with marketing responsibilities at Clariol, Chesebrough Pond's and Warner Lambert in New York City. He subsequently relocated to Vermont where he purchased the historic Jamaica General Store. Tony later worked in the aerospace industry in Vermont before relocating to Savannah, Georgia where he held senior management positions in naval ship construction. Eventually he settled in Charlotte, North Carolina working as a software consultant.

Tony and his wife Jane Lagsdin, Pearl River High School, Class of 1959, were the proud parents of Greg, Tony III and Christopher and their "adopted" son David Jones. Six years after Jane's death, Tony married Nancy Wilson. Nancy has two grown children, Scott and Beth. While competing in the New York City and Boston marathons were among his accomplishments, his passion was sailing with Nancy on their Hunter sailboat on coastal South Carolina.

Following an extended battle with Lewy Body Dementia, Tony passed away October 13, 2010 in Charlotte, North Carolina. His remains will be buried in the family plot in Jamaica, Vermont. Members of the Class of 1958 extend their deepest sympathies to Nancy and to Tony's family. May he rest in peace.

Some stay for a while, leave footprints on our hearts...
